THANKS AND ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In the preparation of this new edition I would like to thank:

Sally Mellersh (formerly of Hammersmith and West London College) for updating and expanding the List of likely errors to accompany the new editions of Ship or Sheep? and Tree or Three? by its inclusion on the website (http://www.cambridge.org/elt/elt\_projectpage.asp?id=2500905).

David McCreath for IT assistance and contribution to my computer literacy. Sandra Turner for help with typing.

My editors Nóirín Burke, Frances Amrani and Yvonne Harmer, as well as the following teachers from all over the world who commented during development and gave me such practical advice:

Michele Chartrand-Hirsch, France; Ian Chitty, UK; David Deterding, Singapore; Sylvie Donna, UK; Elizabeth Downey, New Zealand; Lynda Edwards, UK; Laura Hancock, UK; David Hill, Australia; Kip Kelland, Italy; Kathy Keohane, UK; Andrea Paul, Australia; Gordon Francis Robinson, Singapore; Julietta Ann Schoenmann, UK; Roger Scott, UK Peter Hobbs and other teachers of International House Sydney, who allowed me to observe and co-teach their classes; Shân Jones, for class observation at Blacktown TAFE College.

I would like to continue to thank Amir Pirouzan, Jean Crocker and John Lipscomb for their advice and encouragement during the preparation of the original edition of Ship or Sheep? Also Philippa Lipscomb and other teachers of the British Council, Teheran, who helped with the first class try-outs.

INTRODUCTION FOR STUDENTS

- Seven of the 50 units in this book are review units. Each of the other units introduces a different English sound, as well as other aspects of pronunciation (e.g. stress, intonation) which are also important for successful communication in English.
- You can use this book either working alone or with a class + teacher.
- You will need:
  - equipment to listen to the CD, and equipment to record your voice
  - a small mirror to compare your lip positions with the pictures
  - Your mask (cut it out from page 185). You will use it at the beginning of most units (but not Unit 1). You can also use it for extra practice of sounds that are difficult for you.
- First, find out which units are most important for you. To do this:
  - If possible, check your mother tongue in the List of likely errors (see website: http://www.cambridge.org/elt/elt\_projectpage.asp?id=2500905) and make a printout of that part of the list.
  - Do at least one of the Diagnostic Tests (see pages ix–xi). If you are working alone, do Test A. Test B needs the help of a teacher, native speaker or near-native speaker. If you are working with a teacher, he/she will decide whether you do the tests.
- Decide whether you want to:
  - work first on the most important units for you, or
  - begin at the beginning and work through the book, spending more time on the most important units for you. You can choose to work simultaneously on Section A (vowels) and Section B (consonants). You can also do the seven review units.
- Read Making English sounds before beginning each section (see pages 1–2, 79–80). This introduces some essential vocabulary.
- Symbols used in the book:
  -  means this material is recorded.
  -  means the answers are in the Key (see pages 186–224).
  -  means this exercise is suitable for a group or pair of students. If you are a student working alone, you could try it by using your imagination, e.g. by imagining another student.
  -  means 'use the mask' (see page vi).
  -  means 'visit the website to practise'.
- Other symbols used:
  - Intonation is shown with arrows:
  - The main word stress is shown in bold, e.g. pronunciation, student.
  - Sentence stress is shown with underlining, e.g. Sentence stress is shown with underlining, or sometimes with big and small circles: OoOoOoooOo (Sentence stress is shown with underlining).

- Phonetic symbols used in this book are the International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA) (the Contents page shows all the symbols used). You can use this book without knowing these symbols, but it is useful to learn them so that you can check the pronunciation of new words in a dictionary. The Cambridge Advanced Learner's Dictionary uses these symbols.
- In most units (but not in Unit 1), Exercise 2 Minimal pairs gives you practice in contrasting two sounds in words and sentences. If you don't have one of the two sounds in your language, practising the pairs of sounds can sometimes help you to hear – and then produce – the English sound.
- Dialogues are recorded. You can backtrack on the CD to repeat them as many times as you want. If you don't like backtracking, listen to the dialogue after you have done the dialogue tasks.

The Mask

There are two ways in which you can use the mask (which you cut out from page 185):

- 1 At the beginning of the minimal pair exercises Here, you are instructed to use the mask in most units after Unit 1. The mask symbol  at the beginning of the exercise indicates 'use the mask'. You can start the minimal pair practice with the mask covering the written words, just looking at the pictures and listening to the pair sounds (first in words and then in sentences). This will help you to focus on really listening to the sounds first. After you have listened for the first time, you can backtrack on the CD to listen again and repeat.
- 2 Extra practice of difficult sounds You can also use the mask, for example at the end of a unit, to enjoy extra practice of sounds that are difficult for you. Here, your task with the mask is to try to produce the contrasting sounds correctly while trying to remember the words and sentences. (e.g. 1 Mask on – listen and repeat. 2 Mask off – read aloud. 3 Mask on – remember and say aloud. 4 Mask off – read aloud to check.)

Other ways of having extra practice of difficult sounds

- 1 Make playing cards by photocopying the minimal pair charts (e.g. four copies) and cutting out the pairs. You can then play some of the card games described in the review units. If working alone, play Pick up pairs, Unit 7, page 27 or Pick up same sounds, Unit 14, page 52.
- 2 Check on the website (http://www.cambridge.org/elt/elt\_projectpage.asp?id=2500905) to see if there is any extra practice material for this sound.

INTRODUCTION FOR TEACHERS

- Please read the Introduction for Students on pages v–vi.
- Level This book is written for intermediate students, but previous editions have also been used by students at other levels. Tree or Three? is written for beginner–elementary level.
- Class/Student working alone The instructions are written for a student working alone, but can be used for classroom teaching as well. See the symbols in the students' introduction, especially .
- Diagnostic Tests You can use these if you need to assess students' difficulties. But if you already know this for your class, you can choose to skip the tests and decide whether you want the students to work through the book or focus only on some units.
Students working alone can self-administer Test A with or without your input. To administer Test B, students can be asked to record their individual performances for your assessment. Or you may prefer to do this with them so that you can immediately check possible 'reading' rather than pronouncing mistakes, by asking them to listen and repeat the item.
- List of likely errors This is on the website so that it can be added to. It can be found at http://www.cambridge.org/elt/elt\_projectpage.asp?id=2500905. It would be useful for each student to have a printout of the relevant part of this list.
- Minimal pairs In this book, these are pairs of words/sentences which differ by only one sound, e.g. Bill bought a sheep./Bill bought a ship. These sometimes help students to hear – and then pronounce – sounds that are difficult for them. You may want to extend students' class practice of particular minimal pairs by inventing games or playing the following:
  - Card games These are described in Exercise 1 of the review units. Make more copies if using pairs from only one unit. This book is copyright, but permission is granted to make a single copy of the cards described in the review units, for the sole purpose of playing the card games outlined.
  - 'Fingers' For each pair, say words rapidly at random, e.g. sheep sheep sheep ship ship sheep sheep. Students show with one or two fingers if they hear sound 1 or sound 2. Students practise in pairs and then back to back.

- 'Mingling' Each student has one of the minimal pair cards. Students mingle (move around randomly), not showing their cards but repeating their word to find the others with the same sound. They form a group, which checks correct membership. The first group to complete their set of words with the same sound wins. Students swap cards within their group and check pronunciation of new words before all mingling again to find the person in the other group with the other half of their minimal pair. Students change cards with that person and check each other's pronunciation. Then start the mingling game from the beginning so both sounds are used.
- The mask (See Introduction for Students.) The purpose of the mask is twofold:
  - to allow students to listen to and practise the minimal pair sounds first in words and then in sentences without being distracted by the written word
  - for extra practice of sounds they find difficult.

DIAGNOSTIC TESTS

All students should do Test A.

Test B requires the help of a teacher, native speaker or near-native speaker of English.

The tests are not to give you a mark. They may help you to find out which sounds and other aspects of English pronunciation could be the most difficult for you. You should also check this in the List of likely errors on the website: http://www.cambridge.org/elt/elt\_projectpage.asp?id=2500905.

TEST A

Section 1 Sound discrimination

A2 Do not stop the recording or repeat. In each item you will hear two words. Sometimes the two words are the same. Sometimes they have one sound that is different. Listen once only to each item and tick the S (same) column or the D (different) column. If you are not sure, tick the question mark (?) column.

EXAMPLE If you hear, 'sheep sheep' tick the S column.

If you hear, 'sheep ship' tick the D column.

If you are not sure, tick the ? column.

Section 2 Intonation

A3 Do not stop the recording or repeat. Listen to Lucy talking to Lesley on the telephone. In some items her voice goes up (↗) at the end. In some items her voice goes down (↘). Tick the ↗ or ↘ column for each item. If you are not sure, tick the ? column. Listen to the example first.

EXAMPLE a) That's Lesley, isn't it?
 b) That's Lesley, isn't it?

TEST B

(Note: This test requires the help of a teacher, native speaker, or near-native speaker of English.)

Ask the student to read each test item, and record the grading on the result sheet (page xii).

A student's performance can be recorded, or the student can be asked to repeat an item as many times as necessary to record a result. The reasons for mispronunciation are many, and some may be caused by reading difficulty. To check this, say the mispronounced word correctly and ask the student to repeat it. If the student can then say it correctly, add the symbol R to your grading on that item, indicating that the student can pronounce this sound but may have difficulty when reading it.

Suggested symbols for grading: ✓ no difficulty with this sound
 X difficulty with this sound
 R may have difficulty reading this sound
